"Gina's extensive operational experience in driving strategy and growth at Avon, Ford, and Estee Lauder will be very valuable as we position Manpower for continued future growth," said Jeffrey A. Joerres, chairman and CEO of Manpower Inc.

Boswell, 44, is responsible for implementing Avon North America's transformation agenda and its business strategies. During her four year tenure at Avon, she also served as senior vice president of corporate strategy and business development, during which she helped develop the company's global growth strategies and explored business opportunities to reach new markets and new customers.

Prior to Avon, Boswell held various management roles during her four years at Ford Motor Company, most recently as director of business strategy for Ford's global enterprise. In earlier positions at Ford, she had line responsibility for the company's vehicle personalization business and helped lead the development of Ford's consumer-focused e-business. Prior to Ford, Ms. Boswell spent over six years with the Estee Lauder Companies, Inc., serving the last two years as vice president of new business development where she focused on developing and implementing acquisitions, licenses and strategic alliances.

Boswell is a summa cum laude graduate of Boston University and received her Master's degree from the Yale School of Management. She currently serves on the board of directors for Applebee's International, Inc. and was named a Henry Crown Fellow of the Aspen Institute in 2005. In early 2007, Boswell was selected as one of the Top 15 Women in Business by Pink Magazine and the Forte Foundation.
